HONOLULU TO BE THERE

Y. M. C. A. Exhibition Next Year.

WILL BE HELD IN BOSTON

Material to be Gathered To Show the History and Scope of the Work.

The Honolulu Young Men's Christian Association will prepare for the Jubilee Exhibit in connection with the Jubilee Convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations to be held in Boston, June 11-16, 1901. By means of maps of various kinds; photographs of men, buildings, classes, etc.; charts and other material, it is desired to show graphically the history, scope and development of all phases of the American association movement. As such it is believed that this exhibit will be one of the most important features of the convention.

The success of this semi-centennial exhibit depends upon the co-operation in giving time, thought, work and material, of every member of the classes in Bible Study, and Educational and Physical work in all associations; of every department committee, of every employed officer and of all the Boards of Directors.

The International Committee recommend that a Jubilee Committee be appointed, where this is not already done, to take charge of the matter and bring about a creditable showing. Through these committees not only the best participation of each local association may be made in the Jubilee Exhibit, but also through them interest in and attendance of delegates at the convention should be developed.

That the exhibits shall be prepared to show especially the facts of history, growth, development, etc., of each phase of association work from its organization to the present.

The plans contemplate the classification of the Exhibit by subject, as has been the practice heretofore, and as is the general custom of such exhibits. That is, for example, all the work in Bible study from all associations will be in one section, the Physical work in another, and so on. Again, the work in Bible study from the railroad associations will be by itself as a part of the entire exhibit in Bible study, similarly for exhibits in all other subjects. Charts, maps and photographs illustrating the history and growth of association work in each department as a whole, such as in the Railroad, the Student, the Foreign and other departments, will be given separate sections in the historical division of the Exhibit. The similar graphic and historical exhibit material from each state and provincial committee, and from each local association will be arranged in special sections of the historical division.

Awards of merit will be given in one or more departments of work on a similar basis to that of the Grand Rapids Exhibit in 1899.

The announcement of the committee says: The exhibit material of all kinds must be received at the rooms of the Exhibit in Boston by May 25, 1901, in order that the great number of exhibits may be successfully arranged, the Board of Judges do their work, and still permit the Committee to open the Exhibit to the public a few days before the convention begins. Many delegates will thus have the best opportunity to study this important exhibit before the sessions of the convention claim their attention.

The material for exhibit may briefly be divided as follows:

Products and operation of Class Work in Bible study, Physical, and Educational subjects.

Historical, and other material showing growth and evolution.

The association movement as a whole.

State and Provincial Work.

Local associations.

General.

The material for this portion of the exhibit should be limited in quantity to that of the highest and most representative quality. It should include the products and show the operation of classes in Bible study, Educational, Physical and other forms of class work. It should be of the same character and similarly mounted on uniform sized cardboards, 22x28 inches, as in the Exhibit at Grand Rapids, May, 1899. The detailed instructions for the selection and mounting of this material will be published in the complete instructions for the Jubilee Exhibit, to be issued about January 1, 1901.

Charts and maps will be prepared showing the evolution of the movement as a whole throughout the continent; also showing the progress in the various departments of work such as the Field, College, Railroad, Army and Navy, Foreign, and others; the growth of the secretaryship—international, state and local; the evolution of the building movement; the growth of membership, etc. It is expected that the exhibit of the Historical Library will be a prominent part of this division.

Through the Jubilee Committee of each association, and on a uniform plan, it is desired that by similar means the history and development of the work in each local association may be shown. This material should include photographs of the first general secretary and each of his successors to the present, of the first president of the association and each of his successors in office, the photographs of the first charter members, if possible, of the first members, photographs of the first rooms occupied by the association, and of succeeding rooms or buildings so used to the present time. In small compass, using therefore two cardboards 22x28 inches, the growth of four or five the most important items of association work should be shown for each year from the first to the present, such as the total membership, the average daily attendance, the net valuation of the property, the number of men on committees, and the annual current expenses. The above material illustrating the history and evolution of each association should be arranged on, or take the space of not more than five or six cardboards 22x28 inches, or twenty-five square feet.

The plans contemplate providing for the exhibit of the publications and other printed matter used in connection with association work in all its phases, from the circular of a class in a local association through the prospectuses, pamphlets, bulletins, books, etc.

The plans imply a unity of purpose in the exhibits, a harmony of arrangement, and an efficiency in their use during the convention. It is hoped that each principal division of the exhibit may be manned by a person who will give periodic explanations; also that a system of from five to ten illustrated talks or lectures on important and definite features of the work, may be given at or near the Exhibit; also that some special features of the convention program may be arranged to promote the study of the exhibit by all delegates. While more detailed directions for selecting and mounting the exhibits in class work, and for preparing the material in photographs, maps and charts, will be sent each association by or before January 1, 1901, yet this preliminary announcement is issued so that each association in the meantime may be gathering the desired photographs, general facts and other historical material.

KING STREET PAVEMENT.

Will Be Macadamized as Soon as Widened Uniformly.

The almost unbearable condition of King street Ewa of Nuuanu stream as far as the Kamehameha schools has brought many complaints to the Advertiser office. The road is usually so dusty that driving over it is a hardship, and those who ride in street cars get the full benefit of a thick coating of fine white dust.

Another feature which makes the street disagreeable to people who make constant use of it is the glare. The road is composed of fine, white coral rock and under the sun's rays produces such a strain on the eyes that dark glasses are much worn by Kalihi and Palama residents.

Superintendent of Public Works McCandless stated yesterday that it is the intention of his department to macadamize the entire street as soon as provision could be made for widening it to give it uniformity. Also a rock crusher is awaited from the Coast which will be put up in the hills behind Palama from whence it is expected that the heavier stone for the roadbed is to be procured. Such a road will be very dark and the strain on the eyes will be removed.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes's prophecy about the last survivor at the end of the century of his loved Harvard class of '29—that there would be only one left "when the twentieth century's sunbeams climb the far-off eastern hill"—has not been fulfilled. There are two survivors of this class—Charles Storor, of Boston, fellow of the American Academy, and Dr. Edward Linzee Cunningham, of Newport, R. I., both of whom have been unable to attend the commencement exercises.

WRAY TAYLOR HAS BEEN ORGANIST AT ST. ANDREW'S CATHEDRAL A SCORE OF YEARS

On Sunday next, July 29, Wray Taylor completes twenty years' service as organist of St. Andrew's Cathedral, which has only been broken by two short vacations. When sent for in 1889 Mr. Taylor was organist at St. Ann's Church, Lowell, Mass., a position he gained by competition against eight other organists. For over three years he presided at the organ at Kaunakapili Church, now in ruins as the result of the Chinatown fire, and ten months at the old Fort Street Church, in conjunction with his duties at St. Andrews. During the twenty years he has always played four services on a Sunday, besides week-day services and rehearsals, and many times has managed to get through seven services in one day.

He gave the first organ recital in the Islands and rang the first chime of bells. Mr. Taylor also assisted at the dedication of the organs in St. Andrew's, Central Union, Oahu College, Hilo Foreign Church, Makawae Foreign Church, Kaunakapili and Kamehameha Chapel. He has not kept a complete account of the weddings, funerals, and baptisms he has officiated at, but the number is very large. Mr. Taylor officiated at fourteen state funerals, and no other person here has given more entertainments for charitable purposes than he, and every one a success. A charitable appeal to him was never refused. When Mr. Taylor arrived in 1889 he went to Iolani College, remaining until 1894, when he was offered a position on an evening paper as legislative reporter, remaining there until called to the Advertiser, which he managed and edited for some time.

In 1899 he was appointed Secretary of the Bureau of Immigration and Electoral registrar. In connection with his immigration work in 1892 he received from the Emperor of Japan the decoration of the Order of the Sacred Treasure. He is a Fellow of the Guild of Church Musicians and a member of the Guild of Organists. His series of organ concerts in the Kaunakapili church extending over a period of nearly ten years were a complete success and introduced to the public many fine visiting musicians. His work in keeping the Amateur Orchestra together for three years is well known.
